Olijfolies proeverij bij restaurant Artusi in Delft

Fabio Cappellano,
Owner of Il Tartufo, Delft

This event it was an example how much important is to promote projects like this initiative of the Italian CNO. In Italy we have one of the greatest culinary culture and probably the most diffuse in the world. The opportunity that we have at this moment to promote the Italian gastronomy world wide is extraordinary! All our guest where very interesting about the presentation and also the response on the event it was a success. In The Netherlands we consume a growing quantity of olives oil but the quality of it is now became a important issue!

- A very important event which support the development of the Olives Oil quality
- Enthusiastic public
- The culinary press which has participate to the event, it was very surprise about how much arguments are still unknown about quality
